WARDEN KAMANA DIED YESTERDAY

HEAD OF OAHU PRISON SUCCEDED TO CONSUMPTION—FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW.

William Kamana the warden of Oahu Prison died suddenly yesterday afternoon of pulmonary tuberculosis at his home at Kalahehi. His last words were of his former chief William Henry the high sheriff. Kamana became ill over a month ago with consumption but bravely stuck to his post until two weeks ago when he was forced through weakness to take to his bed. It was known at that time that there was no chance of his recovering.

The warden leaves a widow and one daughter. He owned considerable property in Kalahehi and carried a life insurance policy so that they will be well provided. Kamana was born at Waihee, Maui in December 1854. He was essentially a self made man in his career in the world and rose to his last position of warden through sheer force of honesty and close attention to duty. He was seven years deputy warden under Warden Henry and upon the latter's promotion to be high sheriff last October was made warden.

The funeral of the late William Kamana will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence back of Oahu prison. There will be brief services at the house from where the body will be taken to Kawaiaho church. Public services will be conducted at the church by the Rev. H. H. Parker.

HAD GOOD TIME IN HONOLULU

VISITOR FROM VANCOUVER GIVES GLOWING ACCOUNT OF HIS EXPERIENCES HERE.

Mr. J. T. Wilkinson, one of the most traveled men of Vancouver, returned yesterday from a two months' trip to the Hawaiian Islands, rejuvenated by the pleasure, and enthusiastic regarding the charms of this paradise of the Pacific. He left on the Aorangi on January 6th, and returned via San Francisco.

"It is a paradise," "Wings" remarked to a "News-Advertiser" reporter last evening. "And all the time you are there you dream, and do not realize the awakening until you are covered with flowers at your departure. It is a delightful custom, for all your friends to come to the steamer to see you off, and you are decorated with leis (pronounced lais) of flowers, formed in wreaths, etc. As the boat departs, these are thrown towards the friends to whom farewell is being said. The Hawaiian Islands are just one mass of flowers, brilliant in hue as all tropical blossoms are, and redolent with fragrance."

At this time of the year, the weather is perfect, and a fellow cannot help but enjoy life to the full. It is another world, where everything is new and lovely, and a trip there is the greatest change you can have. You know Mark Twain's comment on Hawaii, "that no place in all the world has such a deep, strong charm as this." And even that is none too full an expression.

I was around among the Islands while there and saw the sights. On the Island of Hawaii, the largest of the group, I saw the large volcano, and went into the interior, where there are extensive cattle and sheep ranges. Sugar plantations stretch for hundreds of miles, and when I arrived at Honolulu there was considerable excitement over the rise in the price of the commodity. It will mean a great deal to the growers there, for sugar raising is a very large industry. I had the pleasure of watching the operations of cutting, milling, and manufacturing of sugar, eating some of the products of the cane which I had seen in the field.

Then there was the surf riding. That's where some of the fine swimmers in Vancouver would be able to enjoy themselves. Every day crowds are in, and with the water at a delightful temperature, it is very fine. A ride in for half a mile or so on the crest of a comb is even better than behind a spanking team, and you know how much I enjoy that.

Honolulu was far from lonesome for I met there a number of people I knew, among them Mr. A. M. Burns, formerly a newspaper man in this city. He is now on the staff of the Hawaiian "Star," and is steadily gaining in weight. He has an old longing for Vancouver and contemplates a trip over this way. As you know, Mr. F. A. Wickett, formerly cashier of the New York Life in this city, was transferred to Honolulu, and as I represent the same company, I saw much of him.

The city of Honolulu is increasing in size and importance. The dreamy air of the past is being supplanted by the American rush, and soon it will be as busy as some of the large cities in the States. American energy is a close follower of the flag, and the exemplification of this is seen in the most recent acquisitions of the Monroe Doctrine country.

During the trip over, Mr. Wilkinson stated, the new figure-head of the Aorangi, which was put on at Vancouver the day before she sailed, received a good christening. The first part of the trip was fine, but approaching Honolulu, the sea was rough.—Vancouver News-Advertiser.

FALL OF MUKDEN CELEBRATED ON MAUI

JAPS HOIST FLAGS AND GIVE OTHER DISPLAY OF GREAT JOY AND SATISFACTION.

WAILUKU, March 11.—No sooner was the news of the fall of Mukden received on Maui by wireless telegraph this morning, than it spread like wild fire throughout all the different districts. The wireless message was received from Manager Kishi of the Yokohama Specie bank. Circulars were at once printed announcing the joyful news to the Japanese, which were circulated broadcast through the plantation districts. Flags were hoisted everywhere as a sign of the joyful tidings, and it is expected that some big celebration will shortly follow. Many seem to think that with the fall of Mukden, the end of the Japan-Russian war is near at hand.

Bandmaster Carvalho of Hilo is circulating a petition to the Legislature asking for an appropriation for the support of the band. The members agree to enlist in the militia provided an appropriation is granted.

HAWAIIAN AT KAHULUI.

WAILUKU, Maui, March 11.—The big American-Hawaiian steamer Hawaiian arrived at Kahului this morning to take on part of her large cargo of sugar for Delaware Breakwater. As the harbor was rather smooth, she was moored shortly after arrival and sugar began finding bottom shortly after.

CITY NATIONAL IS IN THE DEAL

GREATEST BANK IN NEW YORK IS BIDDER FOR BANK OF CALIFORNIA'S NEW STOCK ISSUE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The growing importance of San Francisco as one of the world's great financial centers is fully demonstrated by the desire of Eastern capitalists to establish themselves in this city by becoming stockholders of the Bank of California.

While the statement has not been officially made, it is now known that the "large and influential moneyed institution" referred to in the recent letter of the directors of the Bank of California to the shareholders is the City National Bank of New York city. The offer to take 5000 shares of the bank's new stock at $375 per share shows a confidence in the future of the city and State, as well as an intention to be in a position of prominence in the rebuilding of a great commercial era in Oriental trade.

As stated in the "Chronicle" yesterday, Standard Oil interests are a controlling factor, as can readily be seen by the following list of directors: H. A. C. Taylor, William Rockefeller, Robert Bacon, James A. McCall, J. W. Sterling, Jacob H. Schiff, E. H. Harriman, A. G. Loomis, George W. Perkins, C. H. Dodge, M. Taylor Payne, H. O. Havemeyer, Samuel Sloane, S. S. Palmer, James H. Post, C. S. Fairchild, Moses Taylor and James Stillman.

The City National Bank is the greatest banking institution in New York, and, in fact, in the country. It has a cash capital of $25,000,000 and a surplus of $17,397,900 on February 18th last. On that date its deposits aggregated $172,922,700 of which $20,696,500 was United States funds. Its outstanding loans amounted to $174,891,200 on the date stated, and its specie on hand was the enormous sum of $37,943,400, besides $9,060,600 in legal tender notes. There is only one other bank in the country having a capital of $25,000,000 and that is the Bank of Commerce of New York. The latter, however, is second to the City National Bank in all other particulars, and the latter's stock is worth $295 to $300 per share, while the shares of the former sell at $225 to $235.

Since the local branch of the London and San Francisco Bank was absorbed by the Bank of California the counting-room of the latter has been taxed to the utmost to accommodate the eight clerks taken from the other bank and facilities for handling the additional business are considerably cramped. The bank already has its bookkeeping department in its lower story of the adjoining building and it is stated that the premises formerly occupied by the London and San Francisco Bank will be utilized until largely increased accommodations now under consideration are provided.

The lot at present occupied by the Bank of California has a frontage of 67.6 on California street by 80 feet on Sansome street. A short time ago the bank acquired twenty feet additional on California street with a depth of eighty feet. This gives a site 87.6 on California street, with a uniform depth of eighty feet. In order to provide for this largely increased business it is stated the bank will shortly begin the erection of a handsome steel frame structure that will be an enlarged design of the present building, which is recognized as one of the most artistic examples of architecture on the Pacific Coast.

FRANK RAFAEL COMING.

Frank Rafael, one of the cleverest glove artists on the Pacific Coast writes Jack McFadden that he will arrive in Honolulu on the next Alameda. Rafael is a 135-pound man and is well known as the trainer and sparring partner of Jimmy Britt. He also trained Nelson for his last fight with Corbett. Rafael will probably be matched to fight Bill Hulihui for the lightweight championship of the Islands.

The Russian populace may not know exactly what a constitution is, but is willing to try anything for a change.

Poland can hardly be expected to be backward about embracing any opportunity to express dissatisfaction with conditions in Russia.

It begins to look as if a music committee for an inauguration needs trained diplomats more than it needs musicians.
